

Flexible testing options with one streamlined system

For those most interested in protecting exam content and preventing cheating, center-based proctored delivery is the gold standard. At the same time, there may be situations requiring delivery of a proctored test at specific locations outside of our established network, either on a one-time or regular basis. And finally, interest in unproctored testing is growing as more test owners explore ways to complement their high-stakes programs. That's why our solution facilitates flexible delivery to multiple devices and multiple testing channels—with a key difference: Whether a high-stakes exam or a low-stake assessment, the Pearson VUE testing system requires you to publish your exam only once, and produces a single candidate record regardless of exam type, delivery modality and number of exams taken.

Whether it's an exam delivered in one of our secure global test centers, at your corporate or partner site with a local proctor, in a candidate's home via online proctoring, or unproctored in any location—we can provide a solution tailored to your needs.

Pearson VUE's Integrated Platform brings robust registration, reporting and financial capabilities to each of our test delivery options. Our solution is the only one to support a single, integrated candidate record that encompasses all exams and assessments.

Immediate self-publishing increases flexibility

Publish once for distribution to multiple testing modalities and make exam changes and updates instantaneously at your discretion through the power and flexibility of the Integrated Platform.

Experience an unlimited footprint

Regardless of the number of testing sites you currently use, you may have situations that require additional coverage. Because Pearson VUE's Integrated Platform is not tied to a specific delivery channel, you can add locations where you need them, at your convenience. This is especially valuable for organizations looking to provide greater coverage in remote locations or for those with specific delivery needs, such as providing tests at academic or corporate locations. Proctoring can be provided onsite by a Pearson VUE or client-designated local proctor or be conducted via live streaming by a professional remote proctor. And, whereas some online or remote proctoring options merely record testing for selective auditing or playback in the event of a suspicious test result, those who choose our live online proctoring solution benefit from many of the same controls as an in-person proctor.

Pearson VUE integrates all of these features into a single testing solution:

- Eligibility processing
- Registration
- Vouchers and automated discounts
- Results processing
- Business intelligence reporting
- Financial reconciliation

Our Integrated Platform empowers your organization and offers these benefits:

- Exam publishing and records management are simplified and centralised within one registration, delivery and reporting system.
- A comprehensive view of your program helps you to make better business decisions.
- Integrated data means a single candidate profile and no duplicate records.
- Candidates experience a consistent registration system and testing interface, regardless of location.
- Streamlined financial reconciliation makes it easier to track expenses.
- Less time spent managing data and vendor relationships means more time can be spent growing your program.
